LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY: THURSDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 23, 1858.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1858. Reading Matter on every page.

The Analogical Versus the Approximate Cost of Gov. Helm's Memphis Branch. When the wise man said "the way of the trans gressor is hard," he spake everlasting truth. Gov. Helm did sin when he assured our city fathers that if they would give him $300,000 he would build a railroad from Bowling Green to the State line, which would connect Louisville with Memphis; and every step he has since taken to palliate that transgression has made his case worse. It goes harder and harder with him every day.

If there were nothing else to throw doubt upon the policy which would make Louisville give $300,000 toward this branch road, the manner in which Gov. Helm has presented the case is enough to kill the enterprise with uncertainty. He has not stated the cost in a fair, a candid, or a business like way. He has disregarded his position as president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and presented himself in the attitude of an engineer or contractor, aiming to get a job by so underrating the cost of completion as to draw the unwary into the snare of undertaking. When he partially unfolded his designs to our

City Council, he said that the road could be built from Bowling Green to the State line for $800,000. The distance being forty-eight miles, this estimate would make the cost something over $16,000 per mile. Reasoning from analogy, we could not understand how his road was to be made for that sum. There were known to be 26,210 miles of railroad in the United States, which had cost $920,000,000, or more than $35,000 per mile. The railroads in Kentucky, where this one was to be made, had cost $38,000 per mile, and Gov. Helm's own estimate of the cost per mile of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad was nearly double that at which he saw fit to fix the cost of his branch.

We, therefore, assailed Gov. Helm's estimate and he at once saw that it would not bear inspection. He attempted then to sustain himself by an appeal to Mr. Olmstead's estimate. In doing this he made his case much worse. He did not quote Mr. Olmstead fairly. Mr. Olmstead, as reported, had gone over the ground and surveyed three distinct routes, the longest and most expensive of which he estimated at a length of 48 miles and at a cost of $971,462, independent of the rolling stock. He pronounced this route the most unde sirable of the three for both Louisville and the L. & N. R. R. He said it would cost more, and require more time to run it, than either of the others, and that the grades and curves were worse upon this line than upon either of the others. With this report before him, the president of the L. & N. R. R., who now professes such unbounded interest in Louisville and in the road which he heads, constituted himself a plenary umpire to decide that this route was the one which Louisville was to have, and which the L. & N. R. R. would sanction and, in addition to this, misrepresented Mr. Olmstead as to the cost. Olmstead distinctly said that this 48 miles of road would cost $971,462, independent of the rolling stock; but Gov. Helm represented him as saying that it would cost $980, 00, including rolling stock and everything else. We exposed all this, and what did Gov. Helm next do? He induced his board of directors to pass a resolution ordering the Chief Engineer,

George McLeod, to give his opinion of Mr. Olmstead's estimate, so as to shield the Governor, if possible, from the odium of these misrepresentations. And how did Mr. McLeod do this? Why he reviewed, re-revised and tampered with Mr Olmstead's report, so as to reduce the cost as much as possible. But after all he could not bring it below Olmstead's estimate. He reduced it $187, 813 in the cost of iron, but had to raise it $150,000 for rolling stock. In other words, he got it up to nearly a million, instead of bringing it down to

But in Mr. McLeed's anxiety to reduce the cost of the road, and to sustain Gov. Helm in his misrepresentations as to the cost of the road, he gave his cause a fatal blow. He did the Memphis branch more harm, if possible, than Gov. Helm. He used the following significant language: "But the location at many points was an APPROXIMATE ONE MERELY, and we were well aware at the time that udicious changes could be introduced by which the ost would be brought to a lower figure."

Now, what are we to think of such language as this? Does any sensible man believe that a competent engineer, sent out to survey a road, whose existence depended very much on its cheapness. would select and estimate the costliest of two or more contiguous routes? Do we not know that the cheapest was selected ax officio, and that the real cost will overgo rather than undercome the estimate thus made?

But the fatal part of the language used by Mr. McLeod is that which confesses that Mr Olmstead's estimate was not upon actual survey. Mr. Olmstead did not, as Gov. Helm says, "make an actual survey, and by instrumental test, make an estimate of the full cost of the road." He only did it by approximation. "The location at many points was an approximate one merely." Mr. Olmstead may have stood upon a high hill, for fear of approximating so close to the lecation he was esimating as to make it cost too much. And as his location was "an approximate one merely," we think his estimate was an approximate one also, and that it did not approximate any too near to the true cost. And now, after all this, are we not justified arriving at the cost of this road by analogy, or by omparing it with other completed roads whose cost we know? Gov. Helm can't give us any re liable data, and even if he could we would not trust him after his manner of treating Mr. Olmstead's estimate. We insist, therefore, that as the average cost of all the railroads in the Union has been more than $35,000 per mile, and that those in Kentucky, taken alone, have averaged more than $38,000 per mile, it is not unfair, but is very liberal, to put this one down at $30,000 per mile. As it is 48 miles long, it will cost $1,440,000. The Governor has $300,000 Logan county bonds, $100,000 promised individual subscriptions, and with this he asks Louisville to give hin $800,000 bonds to complete the road. If he suffered no discounts on these securities, he would not have half enough to complete his road. But if he suffered in discounts as he has heretofore on similar securities, he would only have $550,000 with which to do $1,440,000 worth of work. How he is to make up this deficit of $890,000 he don't say, but if the tax payers of Louisville once embark in this enterprise they will find out. They will either have to make up the deficit or lose the $300,000 he now asks of them, if they should be so unwise as to give it. Are the tax payers of Louisville ready, then, to give $300,000 now, and $890,000 hereafter, making in all $1,190,000, for s road that gives no assurance that it will go one foot further than Clarksville in any reasonable time, and that never can get to Memphis except not now incorporated ? The President of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad says that in the winter of 1856 we proposed to him, in a speech at the Merchants' Exchange in this city, to sell bonds at fifty cents. Well, what if we did advise him to sell at some price, after he had failed to convince capitalists in Germany, France, and England, to say nothing of this country, that they ought to invest in his Hardin county bonds! We did not want the road to stop, and as he had virtually ruined the sale of his bonds at home and abroad, we advised him to sell Office on Jefferson street, between Second and Third they deserve. THE KENTUCKY MECHANICS' INSTITUTE. SIXTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION.

A correspondent writes us begging that we shall call the attention of the management of the Institute to what he considers a "nuisance." He obects to the small boys who frequent the exhibition hall with boquets, proffering them for sale. They are a source of annoyance to our friend, as they are to others; for, he says, these venders of flowers (wicked and saucy fellows) impertinently offer their boquets when young gentlemen and ladies are engaged in promenading, or holding a tete a tete in some snug corner. It is unpleasant, argues this writer, thus to be disturbed, as it is not every one who has a spare quarter, and to refuse making a purchase would have the semblance of meanness in the young ladies' eyes. We submit the question to the proper authorities.

RANGES, STOVES, AND CASTINGS. Messrs. Wright & Bridgeford make a fine display of articles in their line. The extensive ranges are models of fine workmanship. For hotels and boarding houses they will be pre-eminently useful, combining both economy and convenience. Their parlor, cooking, and other stoves, are of various patterns-all neat and durable, while their castings embrace every description of culinary article requisite in housekeeping. A beautifully burnished copper still and worm cannot escape the observation of the most indifferent. We have never seen a finer specimen of copper-

Messrs. D. & J. Wright also exhibit a small but excellent collection of stoves and iron castings .-This firm is well known in the city and country

PILOT WHEEL, HOISTING TACKLE, ETG. On the east side of the hall will be found a magificent wheel, designed for a steamboat, and constructed by Mr. Jno. J. Hair, whose establishment is at the corner of Eight and Water streets. This wheel is really a beautiful specimen of art—the wood being highly polished and tastefully inlaid. It is of great strength, and in the hands of a skillul helmsman, could steer any steamer through the most dangerous and difficult channels of our western waters. A fine hoisting apparatus, and an anchor, to be depended upon as good at holding ast, are exhibited as specimens of the articles produced at Mr. Hair's manufactory. He is confined exclusively to supplying steamers with this peculiar part of their outfit.

STAR-LIGHT AND ILLUMINATING ARTICLES. The very novel and attractive specimens of tearine, from Messrs. Armstrong & Co., are very ingenious. An evergreen tree appears as if hrouded with snow, while in one of its branch is there is a picturesque statue of an old man. There are icebergs of stearine, and all sorts of fantastic groupings-some of them of a dazzlingy brill iant green hue. These curiosities are only hown, we suppose, to attract the attention of the visitor to the real products of Messrs. Armstrong and Co.-their star candles, soap, &c. HOW CANDLES ARE MADE.

How these beautiful lights are made, the reader perhaps does not know. Suppose we enlighten hem. Not only are the butchers' stalls ransacked for the raw material, but the palm forests West Africa searched, heavy shipments com the tropics being required by our Lousville manufacturers. Tallow and palm oil, the ast a reddish substance nearly as solid as cheese, are put in equal proportions into a vat twelve feet by three, and thoroughly melted into a dark yelow color by applying steam. It is then pumped into an "acidifier," where it receives its modicum of oil of vitriol. The immediate effect of the sulhuric acid is to color it black, though the agency s whitening in the end. The liquid now passes brough a distilling contrivance and on through pipes into the cellar, where it is turned into pans to pol. Next the cakes thus formed are placed in horse hair bags, arranged in a press of five hundred tons power, and squeezed until all the oily and pressure in a second machine are then ap. plied, to perfect the preceding process, and the ontents, now becoming pure with stearine, are mptied into a general receiver. The next step is shovel the stearine into barrels, hoist it to the mouldering room in the third story, and renelt it again as at first, by steam. At these vats operatives stand with tin scoops in hand and pass the liquid stearine into the moulds. As soon is the latter are filled, thin wooded boards that separate the moulding machinery from the works pelow are withdrawn, and currents of air from a huge fan, kept in motion by the engine, rush in and cool the candles. Here the moulding forms are taken off, and their contents emptied into large ead-lined water boxes. After washing they are colled in linen towels, to polish them, and taken out to a shed for exposure for some hours to the sun, by which they are bleached to a clear, pure white. [For the Louisville Courier.] A meeting, held at the works of Roach & Long, by the employees, on Wednesday, 22d inst., having adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased an all-wise Providence to call from our midst Mr. Bryan Roach, our late employer, we cannot but, as a body, express our sincere regret at his loss, for we esteemed him as a man of virtue and benevolence, and we deeply sympathize with his family in their irreparable loss of a kind and good protector, husband and father. Our prayers are that Divine Providence may, in his infinite mercy and wisdom, guide and protect the widow and children in this their great affliction. Therefore,

Resolved, That in this we express our sympathy with the surviving partner, Mr. Dennis Long, in the regret that he feels for the loss of a companion in business, and a partner of toil.

Resolved, That a copy of this, our token of love and respect so feebly expressed, be presented to the family of the deceased, and that the above be printed in the morning papers of Louisville.

THE EMINENCE FAIR-FIRST DAY. [Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.]

EMINENCE, Ky., Sept. 21st, 1858. Editors Louisville Courier:- The eighth anual exhibition of the Union A. and M. Association began near this place to-day. The attendance is not so good as we have seen in former years, although the month is fair and everything is inviting. Indeed, we are surprised that this and adjoining counties do not take a deeper interest in this fair. We expect an excellent how the next three days, as our farmers take more pride in horse-flesh than quilts and sweet otatoes. The display of the two last mentioned rticles, by the by, was very good. telegraphic dispatch yesterday announced that the balloon which carried off Thurston, the æronaut, at Adrian, Mich., under fearful circumstances, on Thursday, came down some hours afterwards. He was seen on it before it was se. cured, and was thought to be somewhere in the marshes. The following are the particulars of

nizing public, by a sad termination to the bal-on ascension at Adrian yesterday. We learn the facts from a gentleman who has seen and conversed with most of the persons interested. The balloon, with Messrs. Bannister and Thurston in with the sun only. The residuum, after the stearine s formed, is a substance like asphaltum, and in balloon, with messrs. Bannister and Thurston in the car, arose from the inclosure at about 8½ o'clock. It went up steadily and beautifully, taking a southeast direction, and soon became lost to the sight of the multitude assembled at Adrian. After the æronauts had been up what they considered a sufficient length of time, they let the grant agency alloyd and and a her. let the gas escape slowly and made a handson descent near Knight's Station, (Riga Postoffice) a few miles from Sylvania. The zeronauts step-ped from the car, and immediately proceeded to nfasten the car, and remove the netting from the alloon, which gradually turned over, finally resting with the neck upward. Mr. Thurston got straddle of the main valve, which was a circular wooden box or frame, fixed in the top of the gas wooden box of frame, fixed in the top of the gas sack, (which was very large, containing 25,000 cubic feet of gas,) and was engaged in forcing back the valve, which opened inward, at the same time requesting Mr. Bannister to notice the neck of the bag. The latter, Mr. B., who was busy with the netting, neglected to do it.

The moment the netting was off, the sack suddenly arose, and Mr. T. still clung to the valve. Mr. B. instantly grasped for the ascending balloon, but Thurston exclaimed—"Hold on, Bannister, she will soon come down again:" for he suptoon, but Thurston excialmed—"Moid on, pannister, she will soon come down again," for he supposed that his comrade had untied the neck of the sack, which would, of course, soon relieve it of gas, and therefore of its upward tendencies;
but he was doomed to a terrible disappointment. Up, and up, the balloon ascended with its precious burden of human life, and, when last seen by the horrified Bannister, was full two last seen by the norrined manuscr, was the two miles high, and sailing rapidly to the northward. Mr. B., sick at heart, and dreadfully alive to the extreme danger of his comrade, hurried to Sylva-nia, arriving in time for the up train (from Toledo, 11.25 A. M.) on which he soon arrived at Adrian, with the unhappy tidings.

Mr. Thurston resided in Adrian, and has a daughter there, his wife being dead. Hopes are yet entertained of his having landed in safety somewhere in the interior, by perforating the sack with his knife, or some other means. Nothing further had been heard from him up to a late learn this morning.

phere, his self-control and consciousness, in a great measure, would be lost.

The Blade, in another article upon this distressing ascension of Mr. Thurston, says:

In connection with this sad event, the circumstances connected with another balloon belonging to Mr. Bannister, may be of interest. Some four years since, without any particular knowledge of aconautics, he constructed a large balloon at Adrian, with which, after several ineffectual attempts, he finally made a grand ascension; so perfect, indeed, was it, that he froze his feet very badly on the voyage, and was crippled thereby for a long time.

The Blade, in another article upon this distress-bonds at home and abroad, we advised him to sell out what he had at some price, and go on with the work. We did not advise, however, that the city or any of the counties should give him any more bonds to sell, and, if we keep our senses, we never will give such advice. He has had enough to do with city and county bonds to convince us that he is not the man to inspire the confidence that they deserve. A man who would attempt to sell Hardin county bonds in Frankfort, Paris, or London, through the agencies employed by Governor Helm, is not fit to have the disposal of such securities.

Saturday morning at daybreak, a farmer near New Carthage, forty-three miles distant from Mr. Harvey's place, discovered the balloon suspended in the air, attached by the grappling rope to a ree in his yard. He immediately hauled the bal-son down, and found the youngest child asleep in the bottom of the basket, and the eldest carefully watching over her little brother. They had been wafted about by different currents of air throughout the night, and had come to a halt but a little while before they were relieved. The story the girl told was that as the balloon scended she cried piteously to her father to pull t down. She said she passed over a town where it down. She said she passed over a town where she saw a great many people, to whom she likewise appealed at the top of her voice. This place was Centralia. The balloon was seen to pass over there, but the people little imagined it carried two persons in such danger. Her little brother cried persons in such danger. Her inter brother cried with cold, and the heroic girl took off her apron, covered him, and got him to sleep. In handling the ropes she happened to pull one which had the effect of bringing the balloon down, and although not understanding the philosphy of the movement, she was quite content to keep the valve open so long as by so doing she found she approached the earth.

The youthful acrial voyagers were in the balloon about thirteen hours and a quarter. It may easily be imagined that among the neighbors where they landed they were the objects of much curiosity and interest. THE HOG MARKET .- In the paragraph in the Courier yesterday in reference to the sales of bogs, two or three awkward mistakes occurred .-We stated that the favorable prospects of a large corn crop would have a tendency to lower prices. The sale of Indiana hogs, which were sent to Hardin county to fatten, was made at 2a31/2 cts. gross, and not 2 to 816 cts. as was printed.

We learn that a contract for pork, for November delivery, was made at Ft. Wayne, Ind., Monday, at $5 75 to $6. The Bowling Green Gazette states that Quigley & Co., packers, have purchased most of the hogs in Warren county at $5 00. The following is from the Cincinnati Price Current of

FOR GOVERNOR-WM. PRESTON.-We believe that it is a conceded fact that Col. Wm. Preston, of Louisville, is to be the next Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky. We heartily concur; for we believe that Louisville, for her noble effort in behalf of Revill, the late Democratic candidate for Clerk Court Appeals, is entitled to the Governor; besides this, there is no abler or more available man in the State than Col. Wm. Preston. With Col. Preston as our standard bearer in 1859, we believe that our majority will exceed 20,000. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—Prepar C. M. Jackson, No. 418 Arch street, Ph

READ WHAT IS SAID OF IT. Scorr, Cortland Co., N. Y., March 21st, 1857. Dr. C. M. Jackson—Dear Sir:—In behalf of the afflicted, I pen a few lines to you. I have suffered and doctored myself, and know how to pity those in a like condition. Until I commenced taking your Bitters last summer. I was not able to do your Bitters last summer, I was not able to do any thing, or even to sit up any considerable length of time. Before I had taken the first bottle I felt like a new man, and now, after having continued the use of them a short time, in the worst season of the year, I am able to labor hard every day. To say the least, I think I have received more benefit from the Bitters than all other medicines I have taken. I have not only used your Bitters myself but have given bottles and medicines I have taken. I have not only used your Bitters myself, but have given bottles and parts of bottles to those complaining of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and in every case, they tell me they have taken no medicine so beneficial as the Bitters.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES VON BENSHOTTER. The Bitters are sold by druggists or storekeepers in every town and village in the United States, Canadas, West Indies and South America, at 75 cents per bottle.

UGHES'S TONIC is purely vegetable in its composition, and will be found peculiarly adapted to the cure of Chills and Fever in all cases, and particularly so in delicate females and children. In nervous and debilitated constitutions, caused by ague and other malarlous diseases, it will be found of decided benefit by counteracting any nervous derangement, and by giving tone to the Stomach and Liver, thereby restoring the system to its natural vigor. AGUE AND FEVER, OR CHILLS AND FEVER, SPEEDILY CURED BY TONIC SIRUP.

THE attention of dealers in Drugs and Medicines, and persons afflicted with Chills and Fever, or Ague and Fever, is respectfully invited to this celebrated medicine, which has justly obtained a high reputation throughout the country, and for many years has maintained its superiority over all other remedies, as a safe, certain, speedy, and permanent cure for Chilis and Fever, or Ague and Fever.

The public may rely upon the fact that it is entirely vegetable in its composition, and made from the best, purest, carefully selected reliable articles, and is always prepared by the proprietor in person, and, therefore, he can warrant it uniform in quality. ant is uniform in quarity. Its Diaphoretic and Alterative properties, combined with its great Tonic qualities, render it eminently superfor to Julnine, and other remedies, as a general and popular remedy in all cases where a Tonic is required and proper to It does not produce Headache, Giddiness, Buzzing of the Ears, or any of the unpleasant effects which so fre-It does not produce Headache, Giddiness, Buzzing of the Ears, or any of the unpleasant effects which so freachtly attend the use of Quinine, or other remedies, but may be given in all cases, and under all dircumstances hatever, to Females, Infants, and all persons who are debilitated, or have the most delicate constitutions, without he least apprehension of any injurious or even unpleasant effects.

Practitioners of medicine who have not prescribed it, and afflicted persons who have not used it, are respectfully artitled to give it but a fair trial, and they will then be convinced of its great superiority over other remedies and hat it possesses all the virtues claimed for it.

It is not only perfectly safe and innocent in its effect, but in no case whatever has it been known to fall in curing halfs and Fever, or Ague and Fever, whether of short or long standing, if the directions were strictly followed and arrived out.

Chillis and Fever, or Ague and Fever, whether of short or long standing, if the directions were strictly followed and carried out.

This medicine has become a staple remedy, and for years has been extensively used throughout the States of Kennucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas. Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Nebraska, Pennasylvania, Michigan, and California, and more lately in Kansas Territory, and has permanently cured near 2,000,000 of cases in all its varied forms and conditions, many of which were from one to three years' standina, and had resisted all the usual remedies known in the country, and in no case did it fall to make a perfect and permanent cure where the directions were properly followed. Such is its invariable success that it has gained the confidence, favor, and patronage of a large number of respectable practitioners of medicine throughout the country, who prescribe and administer it in preference to Quinine and other remedies.

Persons living in districts of country subject to Chilis and Fever, Ague and Fever, or Billious Fever, would do well to keep a constant supply of this invaluable remedy always on hand.

The proprietor has in his possession a large number of certificates and other testimonials from persons who have used this medicine, as well as from Physicians, Druggists, Apothocarles, and other dealers in medicine, attesting its superior virtues as a curative in Chilis and Fever, and Fever, and he could obtain many thousands more, or enough to fill a large volume, but does not deem it necessary, as it is already extensively and favorably known to the public generally.

Now on board the U. S. STEAM FRIGATE, NIAGARA. In order to place it within the reach of all classes, and that every family in the United States may possess a specimen of this wonderful mechanical curiosity, they propose to cut the Cable into pieces of four inches in length, and mount them neatly with brass ferules. CYRUS W. FIELD, Esq., that it is cut from the genuine cable. Twenty miles of it have been actually submerged and taken up from the bottom of the Ocean. This will be first sold in precisely the condition in which the great Cable now lies in the bed of the Atlantic.

Orders will be received from dealers and others for not less than 100 pieces at a time, at $25 per hundred. Retail price 50 cents each.

The Cable will also be sold in the condition in which it came from the Niagara, in lengths of 40 feet and over at 62%c per foot. Smaller quantities at $1 per foot.

Each order must be accompanied by the money, in funds current in New York, as it will not be possible to open accounts. pen accounts.

CAUTION. Attention is respectfully invited to the following letter

CYRUS W. FIELD, Esq.

New York, Aug. 24th, 1858.

Messrs. Tiffany & Co.—Gentlemen: At your request, and in justice to you, I am bound to state, that I disposed of the entire balance of the Atlantic Cable, on the U. S. steam frigate "Niagara," to your firm, and that if any other party claims to have any portion thereof, it must either have been procured from you, or from the small specimens which were distributed on board before the Cable was laid, in which case the quantity is too smali to be worthy of notice.

There is a peculiar interest attached to the Cable which you have bought—twenty miles of it were actually submerged in the ocean, and recovered, while through all of it the electric signals were being transmitted during the whole of the time occupied in laying the cable. Of course any quantity of cable can be manufactured in England, and many specimens have been circulated in this country, but to few, if any of these, attaches the peculiar value which the cable purchased by you possesses, from the fact that they were part and parcel of the cable which is now actually laid.

I remain, gentlemen, very truly your friend, all deadling. CYRUS W. FIELD, Esq.

OFFICE LOUISVILLE COURIER.

We hear of no material change in the market this week for the leading articles of wholesale trade, bu remark rather a limited inquiry for Flour, while Wheat s in better demand. Later foreign news was received yesterday, which though imparting no direct influence here, will have a strengthening tendency, as Cotton and breadstuffs were firmer and the money market easy. Our stocks of Groceries are light, but the new grop in the South is not only very promising, but earlier than usual. New Molasses was received in New Orleans or the 16th, and Sugar on the 20th. The prospects of the Hog and Corn crops are now of great interest, though as yet no considerable stir has been manifested in re gard to the purchase of hogs. The Corn crop in this State will be an abundant one, and we notice the arrival of several large droves of hogs from the interior of Indiana, which had been purchased at 8a31/2 cts. gross en speculation, and sent over here to be driven to Har din county to fatten. We also hear of a sale of 3,000 hogs on the Upper Mississippi at 8% a4% cts., net, to be delivered in December at an eligible point on the river. The purchase was made by a Louisville packer who has the refusal of as many more at the same figures. The weather has been clear and warm throughout the week, and a good rain is much wanted. Under the in uence of dry weather, the river has continued to recede, and now it has got to a very low tide, and freights are advancing.
